CLASSROOM MANAGEMENT

BUILDING
CONFIDENCE

- Find out what our older learners' motivations are for learning a language and adjust our methodology accordingly.
- Use humanistic techniques to build empathy between the teacher and students, and among the students.
- Reduce the focus on error correction to build learners' self-confidence and to promote language production.
- Avoid timed tests which may make senior learners anxious.
- Give senior students more time to complete activities.
- Promote a friendly and relaxed atmosphere in the classroom

EXPECTED RESULTS

- Be able to communicate in simple daily situations
- Be able to understand main details when they travel
- Be able to express basic information about themselves

- Giving English a meaningful context
- Simplify grammar, pronunciation or any other possible barriers
- Enjoy and have fun when they learn
